

///// obsah ročníku / volume contents //////////////////////////////////////

všechny studie / all articles

- Javad Darvish Aghajani
Metaphysical Necessity in the Neo-Sadraian School and Assessment of Necessitarian Theories of the Laws of Nature XLIII/1, 33–57
- Nicole Fišerová
Worldmaking as an Approach to Scientific Pluralism XLIII/2, 219–246
- Filip Grygar
Bytostná role předporozumění u vybraných zakladatelů kvantové teorie XLIII/1, 59–93
- Hynek Jeřábek
Paul Lazarsfeld's Contributions to the History of Empirical Social Research XLIII/2, 247–279
- Mahdi Khalili
Perspectivism and Special Relativity XLIII/2, 191–217
- Petr Matějčíček
Chytrost bez porozumění: hypotéza kulturní inteligence a její limity XLIII/1, 117–143
- Georg Schuppener
Mathematicians and Mathematics at Prague University during the Second Half of the 18th Century XLIII/1, 95–116
- Daniel Špelda
“Hypotheses fingimus”: Cartesian Natural Philosophy XLIII/2, 165–190
- Miroslav Vacura
Longino's Concept of Values in Science XLIII/1, 3–31

miscelanea

Thomas Osborne and Filip Vostal

On the Ethics of Truthfulness: An Interview with Professor Thomas

Osborne

XLIII/1, 145–161

Jonathan H. Turner and Petr Jedlička

The Grand Theory Is Alive: An Interview with Jonathan H. Turner

XLIII/2, 281–294

obsah ročníku / volume contents

XLIII/2, 295–296